

Family Matters

The New Jersey Early Intervention System has Family Support Coordinators located at the four Regional Early Intervention Collaboratives (REICs) available to provide families with information or answer questions about early intervention.

The Family Support Coordinators are interested in sharing information with families and have designed a website, “Family Matters” and a “Family Matters E-Newsletter” to provide information on commonly asked questions, as well as information on upcoming events, workshops, websites, books, resources and meetings that may be of interest.

The Family Matters E-Newsletter can be found on the Family Matters website and will be distributed to families by email along with other periodic e-blasts if the family signs up for the REIC Family Matters Email List. The REIC will keep the emails strictly confidential.

If you would like to be included on the email list please go to the Family Matters website and click the link for FM Email list to register.

Please visit:

Family Matters Website

www.thefamilymatterswebsite.org

The Regional Early Intervention Collaboratives seek to ensure that all content and information published at our website is current and accurate. The information does not in any way constitute legal or professional advice and the Regional Early Intervention Collaboratives cannot be held liable for actions arising from its use. In addition, the Regional Early Intervention Collaboratives cannot be held responsible for the contents of any externally linked pages.